MEDALLION OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

In days of old, as we are told,
There lived a man named Ben;
A friend was he, and so are we,
To Pennsylvania men.

Ben Franklin was his name
And not unknown to fame,
The founder first was he
Of the Unversitee.

COLLEGE SONG, "BEN FRANKLIN, ESQ."

THE UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS ON NINTH STREET—1802-1872

Chas. J. Stillé, LL.D.
EX-PROVOST

Our Alma Mater

Historical research has shown that the foundation of the University of Pennsylvania is to be referred to the year 1740, thus making it the fourth, in point of age, among the educational institutions of the country. It should be remembered that the title of "University" was first used in America in 1779, in connection with this institution.

When the Class of '75 entered the University, in the year 1871, the buildings were situated on the west side of Ninth Street, between Chestnut and Market Streets. The value of the lands, buildings and endowment, at that time, may be estimated at less than $1,000,000. The members of the teaching force numbered 41, and the students in all departments 718.

Dr. William Pepper
EX-PROVOST

A rapid growth and development of this time-honored institution commenced at about that time, when it obtained from the city a large tract of land at Thirty-fourth and Walnut Streets. The erection of buildings was commenced on this site, and the University removed to its new home in 1872. It now owns in a continuous tract, buildings and endowments may be safely estimated at over $5,000,000. Reference to the Catalogue of the University for 1894-5 shows that the officers are 273, while the students have reached a total of 2398, thus ranking Pennsylvania the third largest educational institution in the country.

Mr. C. C. Harrison
ACTING PROVOST

As members of the Class of '75, after twenty years of busy life since graduation, let us, to-night, turn our thoughts to old "Pennsylvania" and offer our sincere congratulations and good wishes to our Alma Mater.

A large Tin Rattle was presented to Caspar Morris by Louis de L. Moss, and a large Moustache Cup to John W. Townsend by William R. Philler.

The Ivy Day was Thursday, June 3, 1875. The Ivy was planted, and the tablet unveiled at half-past seven o'clock in the evening. The Ivy Oration was delivered in the University Chapel by William W. Porter, his subject being "Modern Knighthood."

After this the Ivy Ball was held in Professor Jackson's room.

The Baccalaureate Sermon was preached on Sunday evening, June 6, 1875, by Rev. E. R. Beadle, D. D., at the Second Presbyterian Church. The text was from I Corinthians 14 : 20. "In understanding be men."

The Senior Class Supper was held at Augustin's, on Wednesday evening, June 9, 1875, at nine o'clock. Some members of the Faculty were present, and the following toasts were responded to :

The University of Pennsylvania, by Prof. DUDLEY.

The Faculty, by Prof. JACKSON.

The Class of '75, by Mr. PANCOAST.

The Secret Societies, by Mr. COHEN.

The Literary Societies, by Mr. PORTER.

It is only fair to say that some of the organizations that have in recent years come into great prominence and have added to the fame of our Alma Mater owe their origin to the untiring energy of the Class of '75. Among these organizations should be mentioned the Athletic Association, the Boat Club, and the Glee Club.

The first Concert ever given by the University Glee Club was given under the auspices of this Class, on April 22, 1875, in the Chapel of the University, with William W. Porter as the Musical Director and William R. Philler as the Business Manager.

The average age of the Class at graduation was twenty years, the oldest member being twenty-three years and two months, and the youngest seventeen years and nine months.

After leaving college ten of the class studied law, and were duly admitted to the Bar, of these three have since given up the active duties of their profession to assume important positions of trust in this city; two as officers in trust companies, and one as manager of a printing house. Nine members of the Class adopted the medical profession, and four entered the ministry. Seven devoted themselves to scientific pursuits, including civil engineering, chemistry and architecture. One is an officer in a large manufacturing company, twelve are engaged in mercantile pursuits, five in the banking business, and one in the insurance business. One entered the United States Navy, but resigned to become a mechanical engineer, and one adopted the profession of journalism. One is a farmer, one an actor, one is engaged in the Colorado silver mines, and one has a Texas sheep ranch. Owing to the fact that the Class has not had a reunion for eleven years the records are incomplete. The Class met annually for nine years after graduation; the last reunion having been held at the University Club, on January 17, 1884. According to the Class records, eight of the matriculates have died. Among these were Sydney Castle, the class poet; Sterling Morrison, one of our first honor men, and Calhoun Megargee, who rendered efficient service in the organization of the Boat Club.

Farewell Song of '75

By Sidney Castle, Class Poet

Comrades, at length the day
Has faded 'most away,
When we are met together
Unitedly to weather
A common course. Farewell, the bells are ringing!

No longer shall we dare
A common fate, nor share
The music in the chorus
That rang before time tore us
Apart : new duties, new adventures bringing,

O voices of the past,
Though years may gather fast,
Ye never shall be drowned
While echoing the sound
Of celebrations in the days of yore.

Yea, though those times are over,
And '75 a rover,
Yet still, ah still, above her,
Will light of memory hover :
A spirit band, on earth we part no more.

Ode to '75

By Sterling Morrison

O thou sweet muse, divine,
Inspire my heart !
Here, at thy classic shrine,
Breath of thy soul in mine !
Thy power impart.

List, brothers, while I sing
My class the song.
Loud let thy praises ring,
Brilliant in everything ;
Life to thee long.

Oh, let the thought of thee
Cheer me at heart !
Sharp tho' life's trials be,
Soon as all else may flee,
Never depart !

Oh, let thy honored name
Ever endure !
Crowned with immortal fame,
Alien to thought of shame,
Stainless and pure !

Fresh as the flowers of Spring
Memories throng,
Joyous of thee I sing !
Proudly my homage bring,
Fervent and strong.

Class Song

Written by Carroll Smyth, for the Anniversary Dinner
May 28, 1895

As comrades we are met
Who parted twenty years ago :
The Table Round is set
Let merry hearts with mirth o'erflow.
Then here's to '75
'Till we are 75.

Unchanged by changing time,
Our youth of twenty years ago
In all its daring prime
Awakes and lives in memory's glow.

Adventure far we sought
Who parted twenty years ago :
In many a field we've fought
And dauntless rose from overthrow.

No more we chaunt their song
Whose fancy twenty years ago
Inspired our eager throng
With sympathy to feel and know.

Alas, no more we hear
Those strains of twenty years ago ;
Yet still they haunt the ear
With lofty echoes bending low.

Then, Comrades, closer draw
The bonds of twenty years ago,
Defy rude fortune's flaw, *
And sundered lives together grow.
Then here's to '75
'Till we are 75.
