THE RED AND BLUE

(By WILLIAM J. GOECKEL, '96 and HARRY E. WESTERVELT, '98)

Come all ye loyal classmen now, in hall and campus through,
Lift up your hearts and voices for the royal Red and Blue.
Fair Harvard has her crimson, old Yale
her colors too,
But for dear Pennsylvania we wear
the Red and Blue.
Hurrah! Hurrah! Pennsylvania! Hurrah for the Red and the Blue;
Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!
Hurrah for the Red and the Blue.

Commencement Notes

For the degree candidates of 1979, this year of culmination, and of beginnings, will remain an important date in their lives. The year is significant to the University not only because of the celebration it shares today with its students but because it is a time of memorable anniversaries.

Two hundred years ago no Commencement exercise was held. In 1779 political sentiment caused the Pennsylvania State Assembly to abrogate the Proprietary Charter of the College of Philadelphia and to organize as its successor the University of the State of Pennsylvania in what was the first application of the title "university" to an American institution.

A century ago this autumn the University enrolled its first black students, two in medicine, one in dentistry. In 1879 the Dental School also reached an academic milestone, the graduation of its first class. As if to point to the omission of the academic ceremony in the war year of 1779, the University held two commencements in the peaceful year of 1879, both at Philadelphia's Academy of Music.

In March, the first dental candidates, 25 in number, and 91 medical students, among them men from Canada, Chile, Cuba, England, France, Ireland, Italy, Mexico, Saxony, Scotland and Switzerland, marched to the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's Lohengrin to receive degrees and to listen to the conferral in absentia of an honorary doctorate of laws upon the Chancellor of the University of Melbourne in Australia. At the ceremony in June, 41 students in the College and the Towne School received their undergraduate degrees, seven alumni were advanced to the rank of Master of Arts, six candidates received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, one further Doctor of Dental Surgery was awarded, and 39 men were made Bachelors of Laws. Several of the thesis titles listed in the Commencement program—The Rage for the Practical, Russian Nihilism, and Inequality in America—might seem topical at Pennsylvania today.

A half century ago, in a year that would be forever remembered as having seen the beginning of the greatest economic depression in the history of the nation, a greatly expanded University of Pennsylvania awarded its honors at four convocations and at the June Commencement held in the University Palestra. Notable among the recipients of honorary degrees in that year were pathologist Simon Flexner, a former faculty member and head of the Rockefeller Institute, alumnus Herbert Eugene Ives, whose research had led to the invention of television, and alumnus and future Law School dean Owen Josephus Roberts, soon to become Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. At two of those five academic ceremonies of 1929, some 2,105 men and women of the University received degrees in course. Today, approximately 3,500 degrees will be awarded to those who have successfully completed the degree requirements of the 14 schools and colleges which comprise the University.

The order of the participants in the academic processions, since the first Commencement in 1757, has varied during these two centuries. During one period the Provost, Trustees, and visiting dignitaries led the procession, whereas at another time members of the graduating class entered the hall first. Of interest is the fact that in the early 1800's the janitor of the College led the procession carrying the diplomas for the graduates. The order for today's procession is as follows: the candidates for degrees by schools; the Fifty-Year Alumni Class; the Mace-bearer; the Marshals; the Faculties and their Deans; the Officers, Associate Trustees, and Trustees; the Candidates for Honorary Degrees; the Provost and the President.

The University Mace, the symbol of authority of the University Corporation, is carried at the head of the academic procession by the Secretary of the Corporation. The Mace was a gift of the family of William M. Gordon, School of Medicine 1910. It is adorned with the arms and seal of the University, the Penn and Franklin coats of arms, a depiction of the Rittenhouse Orrery, and a thistle symbolizing the University's early ties with Scotland.

The academic dress stems from the monastic robes of the Middle Ages, when the hood was worn raised for protection in drafty halls. According to the inter-collegiate system of academic costume established in 1894, Bachelors' and Masters' gowns are made of cotton poplin or similar material, while silk or rayon is used for the Doctors' gowns. The latter are trimmed with a velvet facing down the front with bars of the same across the sleeves. The mortarboard cap has been standard in the United States though soft caps are coming into use; Doctors may wear a gold tassel, but all others wear black. Some institutions have in recent years authorized Doctors' gowns in colors other than the customary black; holders of the Pennsylvania Ph.D. degree may now wear red and blue gowns.

The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the institution which granted the highest degree held by the wearer, and the color of the bordering velvet indicates the field of study to which the degree pertains. Degrees will be conferred today in: Arts, white; Science, golden yellow; Business Administration, mustard; Education, light blue; Fine Arts, brown; Philosophy, dark blue; Medicine, green; Law, purple; Dental Medicine, lilac; Veterinary Medicine, gray; Social Work, citron.

With the exception of two Bachelor of Arts degrees, the Master of Arts was the only honorary degree conferred in the early years. In 1782 the first Doctor of Laws degrees were conferred on two distinguished Frenchmen, the Chevalier de Castellux, a Major General serving with the Continental Army, and François Barbé-Marbois, Consul General of France in this country. Upon the same occasion, honorary Doctor of Medicine and Doctor of Divinity degrees were awarded. During the latter part of the last century institutions made a practice of conferring the degree of Doctor of Philosophy not only as an earned degree but also honoris causa. This ceased at Pennsylvania after the third such degree had been granted in 1891, and since that time the Ph.D. has been granted only as an earned degree. Among the many prominent citizens in public life who have received honorary degrees from the University of Pennsylvania have been three signers of the Declaration of Independence (Benjamin Franklin, who founded the University and upon whom the degree of Doctor of Natural Philosophy was conferred post-mortem in 1976, makes a fourth) and ten Presidents of the United States. The heads of foreign countries have been represented by Emperor Wilhelm II of Germany, King Edward VII of the United Kingdom, King Vittorio Emanuele III of Italy, King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi Shah of Iran, President Félix Houphouët-Boigny of the Ivory Coast, President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan of India, and President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing of France.
